United Earth Amazonian Award

The United Earth Amazonian Award is an international distinction created to recognize and celebrate individuals whose projects, vision, leadership, and actions make a meaningful contribution to preserving the planet, with a special focus on the Amazon rainforest—one of Earth's most vital and fragile ecosystems.

Rooted in the humanitarian and scientific legacy of the Nobel family, the Award reflects the vision of Marcus Nobel, a direct descendant of Alfred Nobel, who has chosen to dedicate his efforts to advancing environmental responsibility, global cooperation, and long-term planetary stewardship, with a deep personal commitment to the protection of the Amazon.

Each honoree is recognized with a symbolic trophy, conceptually designed by Silvana Borges and executed by artist Darlan Rosa. The trophy represents unity, balance, and the interconnectedness of life, serving as a lasting symbol of individual responsibility toward the future of Earth.

More than an award, the United Earth Amazonian Award is a global call to individual leadership, honoring those whose personal commitment and impact inspire collective action to safeguard the planet for future generations.
